

Moment Meaning Message

Learn to attract more business through the power of personal stories.

Your life is a treasure chest of stories. When you can identify the life moments that have had the most meaning, you've completed the first step in storytelling. These meaningful moments are the key to engaging your listeners and communicating your message.

Whether you give a presentation to a group or speak to just one person about your business, you will make a greater and more lasting impression if your message is based on a personal story.

At the end of this workshop, you will leave with:

- Clarity about a meaningful life story that communicates your message
- Ability to structure a story so that listeners connect with you
- Power to deliver the story with presence for the greatest impact
